LOCAL NEWS.

Rev. George A. Jackson of Swampscott occupied the pulpit at the Free Church last Sunday morning.

Pastor Shipman of the South Church will be "at home" to his parishioners this afternoon and evening.

At the Probate Court in Salem on Monday the will of the late Mrs. Dr. Towne was probated.

A party of Abbot young ladies enjoyed a ride to old historic Concord, Wednesday.

The contract for numbering the streets has been awarded to J. S. Mason & Co., and they have begun their job.

Dance of the Park Club at G. A. R. Hall to-night. Andover Band Orchestra furnishes music.

Architect Regan is preparing plans for a new house to be erected by L. J. Baciagalupo.

Miss Agnes Smith sailed on the "Lucania" from Liverpool, and is expected home to-morrow.

David S. Lindsay has been appointed by the music committee choir-master at the Free Church. He begins his duties Sunday.

The sermon at the South church Sunday morning will be historical. During the past week the church completed its 183rd year.

There will be a Populist rally in A. O. U. W. Hall, Friday evening, October 26, to be addressed by Edward C. Baldwin of Boston.

The Sunday evening meeting at the Scotland Schoolhouse will be conducted again this year by the students of the Seminary, with whatever assistance the local pastors have time to offer.

Mid-week services will be held at Christ Church Wednesday evenings, in the future. At the close of the services some time will be devoted to practicing hymns, with a view toward better congregational singing.

The Republicans will have their rally in the Town Hall Thursday evening, November 1st. The Andover Band will furnish music, and two excellent speakers have been secured in Lt. Gov. Wolcott and Hon. William S. Knox of Lawrence.

Few live to the age of 90 years, but last Wednesday marked that period in the life of the mother of our well known hardware man, Henry McLawlin. The veteran wagon builder, William Poor of Frye Village, is only one year behind this record, his last birthday being the week previous.

There will be a public meeting of the Society of Organized Charity in the chapel of Christ church on Tuesday evening, October 23, at 7.45 o'clock. Reports will be made on the work of the society during the past season, and plans for the coming winter will be announced. Members of the society are requested to be present; and all persons, whether members of the society or not, who are interested in thinking out the problems of Andover's life, are cordially invited. There will be no admission fee and no collection.

A grand entertainment will be given at St. Augustine's Church Wednesday evening, Oct. 24, by the St. Augustine's Dramatic Society. The entertainments given heretofore by this society have been of a very high standard, and the committee are sparing no efforts to make this one a success. The program will include a concert by the Harmony Male Quartette, assisted by several young ladies, and a drama in two acts, entitled "Pike O'Callaghan." The admission will be: Reserved tickets, 35 cents; adult's, 25 cents; children's, 15 cents.

An accident that narrowly missed having serious results occurred to William Cheever, of T. A. Holt & Co's., as he was driving down Main street yesterday afternoon. A new horse was being tried, and just as he went over the railroad bridge, it began to kick. Mr. Cheever jumped to grab the horse, which was fast becoming unmanageable, when the wagon slewed into the gutter pinning the driver between the wagon and a telephone pole. Help was at hand however and beyond a few spilled groceries and a few days of a lame leg for Mr. Cheever, no damage was done.

The Lawrence Primary Teachers Union will meet at the Lawrence Street Church, Lawrence, to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock. At the last meeting the following officers were chosen: President, Mrs. James E. Johnson; vice-presidents, Mrs. A. S. French, Mrs. Mrs. A. D. Doewood, Miss Carrie Sweet, Mrs. J. E. Evans, Miss Ella Holt; representative, Mrs. J. E. Johnson; recording secretary, Miss May Wilkinson; corresponding secretary, Miss Annie Sanborn; treasurer, Mrs. M. F. Pratt; instruction committee, Mrs. M. F. Fielding, Mrs. E. J. Barnard; librarian, Miss Ida Bass; musical committee, Miss Carrie Dean.

Miss Mary M. Poor is visiting in New York.

Instead of the usual choir, a chorus of sixteen students will render the music at Christ Church hereafter.

The Essex County Grange will meet in the Town Hall on the afternoon of November 1st.

The Engine Company are making plans for their annual ball in the Town Hall on Thanksgiving eve.

The Congregational Club meeting at Lowell, Wednesday, was reported to be a very interesting one and was enjoyed by a goodly number from Andover.

The Food Fair in Boston is highly spoken of by all who visit it. Many Andover ladies have already enjoyed the attractions of it.

Andover members of the Essex Agricultural Society are to meet in the lower town hall, Tuesday evening, October 30, to choose a trustee for the society for the ensuing year.

The public schools close next Friday to allow the teachers opportunity to attend the regular meeting of the Essex County Teachers Association to be held that day in Lawrence.

The annual harvest concert by the Sunday School of the Free Church will be given in the Church Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. An excellent program of recitations and singing has been arranged.

Work is progressing on the Main Street bridge. One side pier is all levelled ready for the iron, and we may soon really expect to see signs of a new piece of bridge.

October 30th will be an evening to save. Mr. Riddle to read, and one of Mr. Parkyn's Musical Company's to add to the program promises a rare entertainment, that should pack the house.

Mr. Riddle has never before read in Andover, with the best seats at less than 75 cents. The hard times price of 50 cents will be highly appreciated by Andover people.

Many Andover friends will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Jennie B. Ladd, the violinist, which occurred at Bradford on Wednesday of this week.

Florist Millett continues to enlarge and improve his premises, his latest improvement including two new houses and a wind-mill. It is a pleasant drive down there and an attractive place when one gets there.

The glorious weather makes walking and driving a rare pleasure while the foliage is so beautiful. A fresh violet found in the woods last Sunday was an unusual smile from nature, for the month of October.

The annual general meeting of the Andover Cricket Club, at which officers are usually elected, was postponed from Monday till next year. Interest in the club seems to be on the wane, as only nine members were present.

Abbot Erving, whose toothsome raspberries in August are always so welcome, shows us a branch full of berries picked this morning, Oct. 19. Ripe raspberries and fresh violets in October don't show such a bad climate after all.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jackson entertained a large number of their friends at their home on Maple Avenue Tuesday evening. The evening was pleasantly spent with vocal and instrumental music, games and dancing. A collation was served.

The members of the South Debating Society held the first meeting of the season Tuesday evening, in the South Church vestry. A very small number were present, but the club will endeavor to keep alive for another year. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 30.

At the meeting of the Board of Registrars Wednesday evening, fourteen names were added to the voting list. Two more opportunities will be given to intending voters, registration ceasing Saturday evening, October 27.

The Misses Bradley, in a circular being sent out to-day, call attention to a lot of leaders that are full of interest for this time of year. Their little store is packed full of things that the women folks are interested in.

The first lecture in the Abbot Alumnae Course comes to-night in Abbot Hall. Mr. Spaulding is said to be a charming speaker and his subject must be of interest to many Andover students. The special subject of to-night is "Pagan Rome: The City of the Caesars."

$200,000—Two Horses.

That is what one must first think of when he reads of the great trotting race to come off at Mystic Park to-morrow between America's greatest stallion, Directum, and the queen of the turf, Alix. It will be without doubt the greatest race in trotting annals, and a great crowd will witness it if the weather is good. Several Andover gentlemen will probably attend.

FIRE ALARM!

THE RESIDENCE OF FRANK E. KENDALL,

ON CHESTNUT STREET, PARTIALLY DESTROYED. ALARM RUNG IN AT 1.45 O'CLOCK.

Just as we go to press an alarm of fire is rung in for a brisk blaze at the house of F. E. Kendall on Chestnut Street. Their neighbors were prompt in responding, and a good deal of the furniture in the lower part of the house was soon removed. The firemen, aided by the garden hose in the hands of the early comers, soon had the fire under control. The whole house and contents will be somewhat damaged by smoke and water and the loss will probably amount to about $800 for Mr. Kendall, and a small sum to Charles G. Hussey who occupied the other side. Insured with J. A. Smart.

Foot Ball.

The Bridgewater Normal School eleven were no match for Phillips Andover, and during thirty minutes' playing were defeated 38 to 0. The game was played in a pouring rain and the slippery condition of the campus and ball caused many fumbles. Andover's interference showed improvement, but the weak team opposed to them may have had something to do with it. In the first half Andover scored 20 points, long runs being frequent. Hine made the star play of the game in the second half, running almost the entire length of the field for a touch-down. Durand and Barker also made long runs. Andover guards played a good game and were used many times to rush the ball.

On Wednesday afternoon the Brown College team were Andover's opponents, and a hot game of foot-ball was witnessed. The Brown team is remarkably strong this year, and the fact that they held Harvard down to a small score and made a touch-down themselves led many to believe that Andover would be defeated by a large score. Andover, however, played a rattling game, holding Brown down to 14 points and coming within an ace of scoring themselves. Brown made all her points in the first half, on touch-downs by Millard and McCarthy, Emery kicking but one goal. Andover played hard in the second half, and from a return kick by Brown's full-back, she pushed her opponents down the entire length of the field only to lose the ball on a fumble on Brown's 5-yard line. Runs by Millard and Fultz brought the ball close to Andover's line, but time was called before Brown could score. Millard, Hopkins and Donovan, all old P. A. men, were on the Brown team. Millard made most of Brown's gains and got in several long runs. The whole Andover team played a good game, Hine, Branch, Chadwell and Holt excelling.

The Park Club are making a good record with their foot-ball team. Last Saturday they went to Wakefield and defeated the Wakefield Athletics 12-0. Their team is made up as follows, with several good substitutes: Quigley and Soutar, ends; Bell and Buchanan, tackles; Pomeroy and Coulle, guards; C. Morse, centre; W. Morse, quarter; Kaiser and Rhodes, half; Hilton, full-back. Considering the limited time they have for practice, they are playing a very strong game.

B. A. A. will oppose the Phillips team on the campus to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Tuesday afternoon the Dartmouth College eleven will play. Both should prove interesting games.

Manager Widdicomb has secured the services of Joe Upton of Harvard to coach the team. Upton played guard on the victorious Andover team of '88 and is well versed in the game.

A Cure for Chronic Diarrhoea.

I had been troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over a year when I received a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and diarrhoea Remedy, which I used and it gave me great relief. I then procured a fifty cent bottle and took about two-thirds of it and was cured. I have taken some twice since when I had a looseness come on and it stopped it at once. I hope it will help others as it has helped me. I feel very thankful to Mr. Stearns, the druggist, for telling me of this remedy and shall be glad to have this letter published. S. C. ## The Observatory.

The boys have had their final battle with the chestnut trees and are now making war on the shagbarks, while barberries hang in ripe, red abundance close by. The warm, bright days of the fall of '94 have made country house parties joyful, the huntsmen and devotees of cricket, golf, and foot-ball happy, and filled the agricultural fair. Such healthy pleasure comes only in the golden days of Saint Denis.

We are glad that we have been able to treat Lord Hawkes and his gallant team to superb autumn weather. A warm greeting was given them in both senses of the word, and no doubt they were happily disappointed in our climate, which their English brethren have too often dotted down in their faultless note-books as "a bit nasty," if nothing more severe. It is quite possible aside from his personal reception that Lord Hawkes discovered a certain coldness in two-thirds of his Massachusetts audience, for notwithstanding the scientific beauties of cricket, "the average man of us" does not grasp them and longs for more active work—more excitement. No doubt his most congenial audience was met at the Manheim Grounds, for the proverbial moderateness of that large town is shown in the truly great enthusiasm for cricket, and a correspondingly less liking for foot-ball and kindred quick pleasures.

The idea that ladies may ride bicycles is only now entering the leisurely Philadelphia mind, and until this year they have refused to see any virtue in rapid transit, and consider the "trolley" as an unwarrantable invasion of their peaceful existence. But who shall say they are not as happy in their quiet Quaker living!

Andover's graduates are becoming quite settled in their new quarters—whether Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Amherst, or more distant fields of learning. Our Phillips has sent a larger delegation than usual to Harvard. It is good to hear of the enthusiasm manifested at the meeting of the Harvard-Andover Club Thursday week, and that it was voted again to offer the Harvard-English prizes at Phillips. President Noyes, who is known as one of Andover's most brilliant graduates, presided, and Prof. Palmer gave a felicitous and pointed address. I understand that one honor has already fallen into the hands of the Andover Freshmen in the election of Mr. William Gardner, '94, as President of the Debating Club.

RUTH CARR.

Punctuation and the Law.

From time to time it is announced in correspondence from Washington, D.C., that the punctuation of acts passed by Congress is defective, and the legal advisers of the Government are called upon to settle the knotty question arising from these errors. Several instances of defective punctuation have been noted in the new Tariff act, and similar errors occurred in the wording of the Tariff act of 1890. None of the errors can be corrected without a joint resolution of the two houses, for the "law print" of the bill must be an exact copy, wording, spelling, punctuation and everything else contained in the enrolled bill, which is the copy that becomes a part of the archives of the Government.

It is unfortunately too true now, as in the time of Chaucer,

A reader that pointeth ill
A good sentence may oft spill.

Those who have tried by means of the law courts to take advantage of erroneous punctuation have had their trouble and bills of cost for their pains, and it may be said that, a similar fate awaits the person who may endeavor to defeat by legal means the manifest intent of the law. One of the oldest legal maxims, as old as the law itself, is to the effect that bad grammar does not vitiate a deed (Mala grammatica non vitiant chartam), and in the eye of the law the same principle applies in the case of bad or wrong punctuation. As the late George Perkins Marsh, LL.D., long representative of the United States at the court of Italy, says in one of his lectures on the English language, delivered at Columbia College and afterward published in book form: "Mistakes in the use of points, as of all the elements of language written and spoken, are frequent; so much so, in fact, that in the construction of private contracts, and even of statutes, judicial tribunals do not much regard punctuation; and some eminent jurists have thought that legislative enactments and public documents should be without it."

Bishop, in his "Commentaries on Written Laws and their Interpretation," says: "The statutes in England are not punctuated in the original rolls; but more or less marks of punctuation appear in them as printed by authority.

With us the punctuation is the work of the draughtsman, the engrosser or the printer. In the legislative body the bill is read so that the ear, not the eye, takes cognizance of it. Therefore, the punctuation is not, in either country, of controlling effect in the interpretation."

Punctuation, in fact, forms no part of the law, as pointed out in the foregoing extract—a fact well recognized in Great Britain, as may be observed in legal advertisements for next of kin, and often reprinted in the leading daily papers here, which are noticeable for their want of punctuation. Some of the cases in the United States in which the above cited principle has been laid down are Doe v. Martin, 4 T. R. 65; Barrow v. Wadkin, 24 Bean, 326; Cushinn v. Worrick, 9 Gray (Mass.), 585; and Gyger's Estate, 65 Pa. Stat., 311. Those interested may also consult Sedgwick on "Statute Law" for further information on this subject.

Punctuation cannot have a controlling effect, but may be disregarded altogether when plainly contrary to the legislative intent, in which case the courts will repunctuate to give effect to such intent, as decided in the United States v. Isham, 17 Wallace (U.S.), 502; Albright v. Payne, 49 Ohio Stat., 15; and in Pancoast v. Ruffin, 1 Ohio, 385.

The following extracts are from some of the decisions of the courts on this interesting question:

"Punctuation is a most fallible standard by which to interpret a writing; it may be resorted to when all other means fail."—Ewing v. Burnet, 11 Peters (U.S.), 54.

"Punctuation is no part of the statute."—Hammock v. Farmers' Trust and Loan Company, 105 U. S., 77.

"For the purpose of arriving at the true meaning of a statute, courts read with such stops as are manifestly required."—United Lites v. Lacher, 134 U. S., 624—opinion given by Chief Justice Melville Fuller.

"Punctuation in written contracts may sometimes shed light upon the meaning of parties, but it must never be allowed to overturn what seems the plain meaning of the whole contract."

—Osborne v. Farwell, 87 Illinois, 89.

"Punctuation may be resorted to when no other means can be found of solving an ambiguity, but not in cases where no real ambiguity exists except what the punctuation itself creates."

—Weatherly v. Mister, 39 Maryland, 620.

"The want of proper punctuation is, if objectionable at all, no more allowable in vitiating the contract or destroying its effects than bad grammar, the rule against which is a maxim of the law."—White v. Smith, 33 Pa. Stat., 186.

From the writings of the authorities cited, and from the foregoing extracts from decisions, it will be gathered that there is no hope for any litigant who may base their cases solely upon the erroneous punctuation of the acts passed by Congress.—The American Bookmaker.

There is no magazine that maintains a more uniform or higher degree of excellence than the old, well-known weekly, eclectic, Littell's Living Age. Its selections are taken from the leading foreign quarterlies, reviews and magazines with the truest judgment, and in its variety there is something for every cultivated taste. "The Outskirts of Europe," by J. D. Rees; "A Greek Courtship," by F. M. F. Skene; "Surgery and Superstition," by Frank Rede Fowler; "The Rajahs of Sarawak," by Hughes Le Roux; "The Question of Korea," by Henry Norman; "Time-Gauges of Niagara," by Thos. W. Kingemill; "The Hadramut: A Journey in Southern Arabia," by J. Theodore Bent; "The Buried Elephants in the Arctic Regions," by D. Gath Whitely; "Hobbes," by Frederick Pollock; "Mr. Ruskin as a Practical Teacher," by M. Kappman; "The Khedive of Egypt," by Stuart Cumberland—are some of the many valuable papers contained in recent issues, and constitute about one-third in number of those republished during four weeks. To busy men and women who wish to be informed in regard to current English periodical literature and have the best papers, the most representative, profitable and entertaining, culled for them by a competent hand, The Living Age is indispensable. New subscribers for 1895 are promised the thirteen weekly issues for the current quarter free. Address, Littell & Co., Boston.

A New Year—More Power.

It is quite fitting that each year of any life should show some steps forward. We point with some pride to that feature of the Andover Press and its kindred branches. The latest addition comes at the end of this seventh year, in a splendid new steam plant, three times the size of the one that has been in use since the start in 1887.
As new presses and machinery have been added to the equipment of our printery, the power became more and more heavily loaded, until at last more was demanded.

In making the change the future was well considered, and twice the actual demand of the present business in an engine and boiler have been secured.
A Taylor engine of 10 hp. and a Hodge boiler of 15 hp. now make up the plant of the Andover Press. Everything has been done in a complete and substantial manner, under the direction of George F. Holt, who furnished the engine and boiler. The boiler is set in brick, the work being done by M. E.
White, and to his careful and skilful work is due much praise for the satisfactory way in which the chimney flue draws, steam is kept, and many other little things done, that delight the fireman.

The carpenter work by Hardy & Cole, the piping by E. Pike and the machinists labor by E. R. Barton of Lawrence have all contributed in making the new equipment an almost model one for our demands. We can ask for no better favor at the close of the next seven years than that the present plant may be then outgrown as the one just thrown out was.

Editorial Clinders.

Verily that was almost a special wedding train that left Haverhill at 9 Wednesday. There were seven new couples aboard it when it left Andover and we don't know how many more were gathered in before Boston was reached. It would almost have paid a Chinaman to sweep the cars after the wardrobe cleansing was completed.

So it is a republican selectman in a democratic town against a democratic selectman in a republican town, for the next representative. Well we will—no we won't either, come to think of it.

Don't forget before you build your cesspool or change your plumbing that there are very particular laws now, that are to be seriously considered.

The last few days have been worse for dust than almost any other part of the year. Oh for a little of that surplus water of July and August.

The occupancy of the new schoolhouse so soon is criticised by some because some things are yet undone. It was really a choice between two evils, and the committee appear to have chosen the lesser in getting out of the very inconvenient quarters of the Town House and getting into the new building with its but few inconveniences.

Lots of Red Ears.

What a gathering that was at the hospitable home of John B. Jenkins last Wednesday evening? Called a husking, it was more than a corn stripping, for everyone present seemed to have thrown off the husks of reserve and selfishness, and let themselves loose to every part of the good cheer and sociability. About 125 people were present, and from the first view of the Chinese lanterns that lighted the porch to the last farewell at midnight, it was a jolly time.

The barn was sweet and inviting with its wealth of the harvest time, and only a short time was required for so many workers to make a great pile of golden ears, a crowning center-piece in the barn floor. Then came adjournment to the house made doubly attractive in its rich dressing of autumn leaves, grain and flowers, all artistically arranged as Florist Millett knows so well how to do.
Red ears had been thick in the corn pile and work and forfeits had made a hungry band that sat down to a genuine old-fashioned baked bean supper. Nothing was wanting to make it a royal New England feast, and the visitors heartily enjoyed it. What if some of them did eat too much squash pie; such squash pie as Mrs. Jenkins' does not grace many tables and only once a year does the corn husking season come.

Singing of war songs, under Dr. Gilbert's leadership, readings by Miss Butterfield and Mr. Lovejoy, remarks by Post members and friends, and other amusements made the evening all too short, and as the last hours of the day went out the party broke up with many wishes for a like treat at the next harvest time.

About twenty-five members of Post 99 were present, and among many others from towns around were Col. Dyke of Stoneham and Col. Mansfield of Wakefield, old army comrades of Mr. Jenkins.

A Rare Entertainment.

On Tuesday evening, October 30, Mr.
George Riddle will give a reading from Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet." Mr.
Riddle has been many times to Andover, and is exceptionally popular here, this is to be his first appearance with musical support.

He is the only reader who is honored by such famous organizations as the Boston symphony Orchestra, Theo. Thomas' Orchestra, Walter Damrosch, etc., with whom he has many times read "Mid-summer Night's Dream" and "Manfred."

Mr. Parkyn has arranged the entire orchestral scores of "Faust," "Lucresia Borgia," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and "Romeo and Juliet" especially for Mr. Riddle and the Boston Philharmonic Sextette Club, and on Tuesday evening the Romeo and Juliet reading will be given with the assistance of this well known organization.

These so-called "Orchestral Readings" have been successful beyond the expectations of Mr. Riddle himself, the present season being far in advance of all previous bookings.

Mr. Riddle's prominent connection with Harvard University as Instructor of Elocution has undoubtedly been largely instrumental in his immense success.

Thieving at Marland Mills.

For a number of weeks money has been taken at different times from the cash drawer in the Marland Mills office. Efforts were made to detect without avail until about ten days ago officer Moorar of West Andover was put on guard at the office every night. He discovered nothing until last Tuesday night, when at about 11 o'clock he heard the door unlock and a man stepped into the outer fl. Almost at the same instant the intruder turned and ran having probably seen something to arouse his suspicion.
The officer gave chase but was eluded although seeing enough of the intruder to make him believe the thief to be Patrick McMullen, a watchman at the mill.
Supt. Jowett was called and with the officer, he confronted the man with the charge. Keys were found upon him that unlocked the office door and also the money drawer, and it was thought sufficient evidence was found to warrant an arrest. About $75 has been taken in sums ranging from $1 to $5 at a time.

McMullen was arraigned before Judge Stone Thursday morning, but his counsel desired more time, and the case was continued to this morning.

Chief Mears had McMullen before Judge Stone at Lawrence this morning and after several witnesses were heard the Judge thought there was sufficient evidence to warrant holding the prisoner for the grand jury. Bail was reduced to $1000.

Cathedrals.

An effort is being made to secure a course of four lectures upon Cathedrals, by Mrs. Annie Sawyer Downs. During the eight years which have intervened since this course was last given in Andover, Mrs. Downs has so constantly revised her lectures and added to her stock of brilliant illustrations that her present course is largely new. Meanwhile it has been much called for by an appreciative public in many cities and towns. It is time that Andover should share this rich opportunity to visit the grand old cathedrals with one who knows. The lectures will be given in the November Club House. Further particulars will be stated later.

Last week of the sale of the Dionne &
Vincent bankrupt stock. L. C. Moore & Co., 302 to 310 Essex St., Lawrence.

Wednesday Was a Wedding Day.

Evidently Wednesday, the seventeenth day of October, had peculiar charms as a wedding day, for the daily papers chronicled many such events, and our own community had a goodly share in the number of newly married couples.

HIGGINS-MORRISON.

The TOWNSMAN had the distinction of having the only newspaper representative present at the quiet wedding at the house of Alexander Morrison at 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when his youngest daughter, Agnes Christina, was united in marriage to George Arthur Higgins.
Miss Morrison was for several years the very successful and popular principal of the Frye Village School.

The ceremony was the Episcopal form and was performed in the presence of only the immediate families of the contracting parties by Rev. F. A. Wilson.
The house was very tastefully decorated for the event and a wedding repast was served after the ceremony. A genuine, patented Frye Village serenade helped to enliven the hour after the spread, and at 9.30 the couple took what proved to be a special wedding train for Boston.
After a short trip they will reside at Mr.
Morrison's in Frye Village until Mr.
Higgins' new house on Chestnut Street is completed.

The wide acquaintance of Mr. Higgins that his position as local editor of the TOWNSMAN has afforded him, and Miss Morrison's many friends, all welcomed the occasion to show a generous appreciation of the popular couple, by many beautiful wedding gifts. The many readers of the TOWNSMAN will extend their heartiest good-will to Mr. and Mrs. Higgins.

BURNHAM-HORNE.

Another wedding of interest to our Andover readers occurred at the residence of B. F. Horne in South Lawrence at 7 o'clock the same day, when Rev.
Mr. Keese united in marriage Lorna Maud, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Horne, to George B. Burnham, formerly of this town, and well known to many Andover young people. After the ceremony a reception was held, at which many Andover people were present.
Harry H. Noyes, J. H. Campion, and P.
J. Hannon were ushers. Mr. Burnham has now a position with the J. H. Horne Co. of Lawrence, and after a wedding trip the new couple will reside in South Lawrence.

Andover Cricket Club.

RECORD OF THE TEAM'S WORK FOR 1894.

The season of 1894 has been the least successful in the club's history, and for the first time more games have been lost than won. Their opponents have outplayed them at every point and have scored over three hundred more runs than Andover. Capt. Haddon has been unable to get the full team together on many occasions, and this has had something to do with the poor showing. The strong B.A.A. team met with defeat on the home grounds, and the Lowells nearly shared the same fate, winning by only four runs. The team has been lamentably weak in batting, and the fielding has been miserable. Bruce and Coates are tied for batting honors, with averages of 8.6. Last year Gordon scored 307 runs, and had an average of over 16 runs. As Pearson and Ripley have only batted in six games their work can hardly be compared with the others. Pearson has shown splendid form, however. Ripley's best performance was his 27 against the B.A.A.'s. The season's work follows:

Election Officers.

The Selectmen have appointed the following to serve as precinct officers for election day:

PRECINCT 1.

Warden, Barnett Rogers.
Deputy warden, George A. Higgins.
Clerk, John J. Sweeney.
Deputy clerk, Edward E. Trefry.
Inspectors, William P. Regan, Louis
A. Dane.
Deputy inspectors, Frank B. Jenkins, John J. Driscoll.

PRECINCT 2.

Warden, Lawrence F. Riley.
Deputy warden, Sherman Goodwin.
Clerk, Howell F. Wilson.
Deputy clerk, Frank Parkhurst.
Inspectors, Owen T. Caffrey, Daniel H.
Poor.
Deputy inspectors, Joseph Hinchcliffe, Carl Hoffmann.

The Democrats.

SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

After quite a stormy time in Lawrence on Monday evening, the democrats of this district nominated J. S. Brooks of Lawrence as their candidate for senator.
John J. Sweeney of this town was chosen a member of the district convention for the ensuing year.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

The democratic county convention was held in Haverhill Monday afternoon.
Edward P. Wildes of Georgetown was nominated for county commissioner, and John C. Sanborn of Lawrence for county treasurer. A strong sentiment was manifest for the nomination of County Treasurer Jenkins, the republican nominee, but it was not strong enough to prevail.

REGISTER OF DEEDS.

The convention to nominate a register of deeds was held in Lawrence Monday, and the present incumbent, John J. Donovan, was re-nominated. Hon. J. M.
Bradley of this town was chosen a member of the district committee.

REPRESENTATIVE.

The democrats held their representative convention at North Andover Tuesday night. A. E. Fernandes of North Andover called the convention to order, and Hon. J. M. Bradley of Andover was made chairman and C. J. H. Shedd of North Andover secretary. John S. Stark of Ballardvale, our well known selectman, was nominated by acclamation and the two town committee chairmen were made a district committee.

The Boys Club.

The Boys Club will hold its first meeting this year, Friday, October 20, at 7.45 o'clock. The place of meeting is as last year. All boys between the ages of ten and fifteen years may become members of the club. The fee is five cents each month, and this year will be required at the first meeting of each month.
The carpentry department will meet each week Thursday evening, and will be composed of a beginning and an advanced class. Its first meeting will probably be November 1st.

The Evening School.

All persons, of both sexes, over 14 years of age, who wish to attend the evening school, are requested to meet in the Punchard School building on Thursday, Oct.
25, at 7.30 o'clock. Assignments to classes and announcements as to hours, books, teachers, etc., will then be made. Courses will be given in Arithmetic, Writing, Geography, English, Book-keeping, History, Money and Finance, Bryce's American Commonwealth. Courses may also be offered, if there is a sufficient number of persons desiring them, in French, Latin, Mechanical Drawing, Shorthand, and Algebra. The tuition will be 20 cents per week for any one or for all the courses. The term will be 10 weeks.

The committee of the Board of Organized Charity having the matter in charge consists of Rev. Frederic Palmer, chairman, Supt. W. A. Baldwin, Miss Agnes Park, Mr. A. L. Ripley, and Rev. F. A.
Wilson. Any of these persons will be ready to answer inquiries in regard to the school.

versville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's

Obituary.

MRS. HANNAH GRIFLIN FLINT.

Mrs. Hannah Griffin Flint died at her home, yesterday, in West Andover, at the advanced age of 83 years and 23 days. Mrs. Flint was the wife of the late Alanson Flint, who was a native of Andover, and has always lived in West Parish. Her death was the result of several disorders which ended in heart failure. Mrs. Flint leaves four sons and one daughter, also two sisters, Miss Maria Griffin and Mrs. M. C. Andrews of town, both younger than the deceased. Funeral services will be held at the house Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. F. W. Greene. Interment at the South Cemetery.

MRS. CAROLINE L. HOLT.

Caroline L., wife of Samuel B. Holt, died, Sunday, Oct. 14, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. B. Cheever, on East Chestnut Street. Mrs. Holt was the oldest child of the late Henry and Lucy Floyd Abbott. She was born in Lynnfield, Mass., but, with the exception of a few years, her whole life was spent in Andover. She was the mother of six children, all living, four of whom reside in Andover. Her health had been poor for many years and two years ago she was obliged to give up the care of house-keeping. Her system, which had been shattered by disease, was unable to resist the severe and prolonged attack of the last sickness.

Retiring and modest by nature, Mrs. Holt's true nature was known only by those nearest to her. Hers were the virtues of gentleness and patience and unselfish living. Loving hearts that hold her in tender memory as they call up out of the past her ready sympathy, her quiet faith and gentle ministrations will say of her, "She hath done what she could."

CHARLES F. SMITH.

It was a surprise to many who had not known how ill he was, to learn that Charles F. Smith, youngest son of John L. Smith, died at his brother's home on High Street Tuesday morning. Several months ago he was advised by his doctor to go up country for his health and he went, but the improvement was not as hoped for, and he returned to Andover the first of this month. Deceased was 24 years and 5 months old, and had lived his entire life in Andover.

For several years he was employed at Whiting's jewelry store and later was an assistant to his brother, the superintendent of the waterworks. Bright, jolly, and companionable, he had many friends who will mourn with his family his early death.

The funeral is held this afternoon, the members of the old Victor Banjo Club being bearers, and Rev. F. R. Shipman officiating.

Mrs. Emma, wife of Dr. Nathaniel C. Towle died Friday, October 19, aged 88 years. Prayers at Christ Church rectory Monday, October 22, at 9:30 A. M., to which all her friends are invited. Burial at Newton at 1 o'clock.

FIVE VILLAGE.

While playing in the centre of the village Monday afternoon, Franklin, son of John Collins, was knocked down by the Andover and Lawrence express, the wheels passing over his body. Dr. Abbott was summoned but found no bones broken, and with the exception of a severe cut on the forehead and a few bruises the child was uninjured and is progressing favorably. This is a rather dangerous playground for children, and it is a wonder that accidents are not more frequent.

The New "Pot-Pourri."

The "Pot-Pourri" seems to be at last a fixture for the name of the Phillips annual, and preparations have just been made at Phillips for the next number. The editors chosen are from both of the literary societies, and it is a representative board. F. S. Porter is president, W. H. Hanscom business manager, and J. T. Harrington, W. M. Wheeler, G. M. Chadwell, and E. S. Seates associate editors. One change from the two preceding annuals that will be especially appreciated by advertisers will be its publication in April instead of June, and for this reason alone it should receive a much larger advertising patronage than its predecessors obtained. We wish it all the success hoped for by its promoters.

BALLARD VALE.

Mr. James Hudson has purchased the Holmes house on Marland Street.

Mr. James Kirby has opened a cigar and tobacco store at the stand formerly occupied by Patrick Joyce.

Dr. C. H. Shattuck is having an addition made to the rear of his house. Joseph Joslin is doing the work.

Miss Buck, daughter of Dr. Samuel Buck of Bath, Me., is visiting relatives in town.

Quite a number of town people anticipate attending the entertainment to be given in the vestry of St. Augustine's Church, Andover, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 24. It is understood that a sufficient number of tickets have already been sold to warrant Louis Buck in running his barge to Andover on the evening mentioned.

The Y. L. P. U. foot-ball eleven played the first game of the season on the home grounds last Saturday afternoon with the Lawrence High School team. Despite the rain, which came down quite hard during most of the time, both teams put up a good game. The playing the first half was sharp and close, neither side scoring; but in the second half the Y. L. P. U. forced the ball across the line for a touch-down, but were unsuccessful in their attempt to kick a goal. During the last minutes of the game the Lawrence boys tried to kick a goal from the field but failed in the effort. Final score, Y. L. P. U. 4, L. H. S. 0.

The teams lined up as follows:

Y. L. P. U.	Right end	Littlefield
Ward	Right tackle	Robbins
Greenwood	Right guard	Murphy
Deerborn	Catcher	Holt
Ross	Left guard	Donovan
Miller	Left end	Chubb
Matthews	Quarter-back	Hughes
Flaherty	Half-back	Collins, Capt.
Wood	Half-back	Carter
Parker	Capt. Full-back	Walker

Harvest Festival.

Andover has always had a warm regard for the Ladies' Charitable Society of Lawrence and its help has gone out generously many times in the past years. Another call now comes and we are sure that the response will be as generous and hearty as heretofore.

A festival is to be given by the society and its friends Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Oct. 23 and 24 in order to raise money to pay all debts now unpaid. There is now due more than fifteen hundred dollars, and there is less than eight hundred with which to meet the indebtedness; hence, the harvest festival. It attractions will be that of a fair and a supper, and there will be the following tables in charge of different churches or societies:

Supper table—Lawrence Street Church Second Baptist, Universalist, St. John's and South side Congregational churches.

Fancy table—Trinity, Haverhill Street, Methodist, First Baptist Churches, Needham Relief Corps, and the ladies of Andover have been invited to work on this table.

Apron table—Unitarian, St. Thomas', Presbyterian and St. Mark's Church.

Tissue paper table—Grace Church.

Candy table—Girls' Hospital Club.

Doll table—The German Churches.

Box table—Free Baptist Church.

Flower table—Garden Street and Parker Street, Methodist Churches.

Lemonade table—Ruth Rebekah Lodge.

Jelly, canned fruit, fresh fruit and vegetables—The Granges of Methuen, North Andover and West Andover.

The Columbia Orchestra will furnish music both nights, and an entertainment committee will furnish a delightful program of reading, tableaux and music. The German Glee Club Lyra will sing the second evening, and a most delightful time generally is expected. All the friends here have been most ready and willing to assist in the good work, and the courage and enthusiasm of all has been most marked. The attendants will all wear the nurses' costume, a dainty cap and apron, and it is thought the hall will present a delightful appearance.

Such is the brief outline of the effort to add to their funds now put under way by this so helpful Lawrence organization. Andover Grange already has a place in the good work. Let all others of our people who can, come in also.

THAT'S QUEER!

You say a collar and cuff that are waterproof?

Yes.

And perspiration will not affect them?

Yes.

And when dirty you need only wipe them off with a wet cloth or sponge?

Yes.

Wonderful! How are they made?

A linen collar covered on both sides with waterproof "CELLULOID." Looks exactly like a linen collar.

Is it the only waterproof collar and cuff made?

No, but it is the only one made with the linen interlining and consequently the only one that can give entire satisfaction, because it is the best.

How can I know that I get the right kind?

Because every piece is stamped as follows:

Inquire for that and refuse anything else, or you will be disappointed.

Suppose my dealer does not have them?

He probably has, but if not, send direct to us, enclosing amount. Collars 25c., Cuffs 50c. State size, and whether collar wanted is stand-up or turned-down.

THE CELLULOID COMPANY, 427-29 Broadway, NEW YORK.

TRY THE ROLLER PROCESS MEAL.

Success depends on keeping pace with the times, and among the many great improvements of the day comes the roller process for grinding grain of all kinds and especially corn. And I desire to call attention to some of the many advantages this process has over the old stone mill. It does not heat the grain by grinding, thereby it retains all of its sweetness, and will keep sweet much longer than that ground with the stone mill.

It makes the meal more uniform; it is perfectly ground, but no part of it is crushed or powdered so fine that it will settle as solid as lead, as is the case with stone ground meal. This makes it very much easier of digestion and far better results are obtained from its use as a feed for stock, either to increase fat or the milk flow, than can be had from the use of the old stone meal.

A hundred pounds of fine ground roller meal will fill a bag eight inches higher than the same weight of stone meal. A barrel of corn on the ear ground with the rolls, fills a barrel six to eight inches higher than will the stone ground meal.

The great advantage of this is that the grain lies just as much lighter in the stomach of the animal to which it is fed as it does in the bag or barrel. The advantage of the roller over the stone mill in grinding corn on the cob is Immense, No Heating or Sweating, the meal comes from the mill cool and sweet.

If the corn is not thoroughly dry the roll will make good meal of it, which cannot be done with the stone mill.

Roller Cob Meal Does not Require to be Spread and Dried to Keep it from Souring.

It will keep sweet in the barrel until used, if this is done in a reasonable time.

You cannot get as much or as good milk from cows fed on sour and unsound as from fresh, sweet sound meal; then

Why not have the Best when the Cost is the Same?

A trial is the most convincing evidence we can offer of the truth of these statements, and we invite farmers and others using corn meal to make the trial and judge for themselves.

To those who have corn ground on the ear, I will say that I am certain after you have seen the cob meal made with rolls, you will give up the use of the stone mill forever.

Our mill and office is No. 19 Morton Street, next north of engine house, No. 4. We keep a full line of grain and poultry supplies, flour, hay, straw, fertilizers, &c. We feel confident we can please you in the price and quality if you will.

Favor Us with a Trial.

We refer by permission to the following parties in North Andover who have used our meal for the past two years: James C. Poor, A. P. Fuller, Daniel A. Carleton, Calvin Rea, George L. Averill, E. R. Tucker, T. J. Bickford.

Dress Goods Dept.

Have you seen the endless array of Choice Novelties in Fine Imported Dress Goods now on our counter? If not we would be pleased to show you the largest and finest assortment ever brought to this city.

We can show you over one hundred and fifty styles in Single Dress Patterns in styles exclusive with us. Our prices we will guarantee to be the lowest in every instance.

The success we have met with in this Department is much beyond our expectations, we attribute it to our large and well selected stock coupled with our low prices.

We are showing to-day as fine, and a better assorted stock than can be found outside of Boston, with the assortment now kept by us and the prices right, we shall expect a fair share of your patronage, we respectfully ask your inspection of our stock.

We have still a very good line of those choice

Novelties

that we have had such a great success with, and what everybody is talking about. We mean our 39c Novelties. If you have not secured a Dress Pattern as yet we would advise you to do so at once, before they are all gone, as they cannot be duplicated.

A very effective and popular cloth is our 45 inch Silk and Wool Scotch Mixtures, they come in a fine range of colorings, manufactured to retail for 75c per yard, our price 50c per yard.

46 inch All wool Armures in solid colors, this is a remarkably pretty weave and sure to suit everyone with a quiet taste. Our price is very low for this quality and width, 50c per yard, 12 shades to select from.

Imported Covert Cloths from $1.25 to $2.00 per yard, Fine Imported Novelties, our line at 75c per yard will surprise you for style and quality, over 22 Patterns in several colors to select from. You certainly would mistake them for $1.00 and $1.25 goods. Broadcloths in black and colors, a fine assortment.

Blue and Black English Cravenette full 60 inches wide and warranted thoroughly waterproof.

Black Dress Goods.

5 pieces more of our Famous 46 inch Black India Seville at 50c per yard, a sure bargain. Black Storm Serge, fully 54 inches wide and never sold for less than $1.00 per yard. Reid & Hughes price to-day 75 cents. A full dress pattern for $3.75.

We have told you before about our Black Novelties Dress Goods of our own importation but a good thing will bear repeating. We want to impress upon you the fact that no such assortment has ever been shown in one store we doubt if you could find as many styles in all the stores in town put together, over 35 styles in all the new and fashionable weaves.

LAW AND LAWYERS.

A PROFESSION IN WHICH MANY ARE CALLED, BUT FEW ARE CHOSEN.

Difficulties Which Confront Young Barristers—How Literature and Politics Affect the Lawyer's Prospects—He Need Not Necessarily Be a Rascal.

Mr. Richard Devereux Doyle, a prominent member of the Norfolk bar, contributes to The Southern Magazine an article entitled "My Impressions of Law and Lawyers," which will prove very interesting to laymen as well as to members of the legal profession. Mr. Doyle discusses his theme instructively, entertainingly and with judicial impartiality and candor. He refers to the "Confessions of a Junior Barrister," by the brilliant Richard Lalor Shiel, as embodying the early experiences of many hopeful and talented young lawyers.

"How many," says Mr. Doyle, "have passed through a similar course of study and preparation, perhaps graduating in the humanities as well as the law, bearing away the prize for elocution and oratory at some of our great institutions of learning? How many have thought that such talents as theirs were sure to command early if not immediate success, and, alas! how many have been disappointed?" differing, it may be added, in this respect from Shiel, who passed safely through the depressing period of waiting and probation which tries the soul of the ordinary legal neophyte, and who won the distinction of which he had dreamed at the outset of his career.

Many of this grand army of the disappointed fail, Mr. Doyle thinks, not because they are lacking in "genuine talent" which is "frequently of a high order," but "because there are so many other elements that should but do not enter into the calculation" of the youthful aspirant. Youth, for one thing, "is too sanguine and expects too much.
Some fail because of their bad personal habits; some by infirm health and too hard study and confinement are stricken down, like poor Kirk White, "when life is in its spring," some are not politic enough to woo the world, but hold proudly aloof, trusting to their talents and knowledge, while the busy world goes bustling by without stopping to look at their credentials." Some stray into the pleasant and flowery paths of literature and some into the seductive field of politics.

"A literary reputation," Mr. Doyle declares, "is perhaps more dangerous than a political one, especially if one is given, like Mr. Wegg, to dropping into poetry. The age is too practical for a successful combination of law and literature. A lawyer may and should be cultivated, but he must not be known as a litterateur or a poet." Nor will it do for the young lawyer to seek to make himself known by going into politics.
To do so "is a risky venture for one who intends to make law the profession of a lifetime, and even a reputation for political oratory is of little if any benefit to a lawyer. The public soon come to regard him as a politician and may be willing to vote with him or for him, but not to give him business."

Turning from the causes of failure to the qualities important to what is ordinarily deemed success, Mr. Doyle summarizes them as follows: "Love of the profession and evident desire to get business and attention to it when in hand; industry and the appearance of industry and good native sense, with an aggressive and partisan temperament.
Fluency of speech, eloquence of diction and genuine oratorical talent are useful, but not essential." This partisan and aggressive spirit, which is akin to what Lord Bacon calls "boldness," Mr.
Doyle considers a particularly important element of success. "Men 'hire lawyers, as the expression is among the people, to attend to their business and to fight their battles, right or wrong, and the lawyer who goes into a case thoroughly imbued with the client's feelings, believing or making believe that he is certainly right and the other party an unmitigated rascal, is sure to please."

As to the ethical side of the law, Mr.
Doyle admits that much may be said pro and con. One of the demoralizing features of the profession is that "a lawyer cannot choose his cases." He is sometimes on the wrong side, the side of falsehood and injustice, and when on the wrong side "there is almost irresistible temptation to express belief in the justice of his cause, and lawyers too often yield to it, thus giving some ground for the popular accusation that lawyers lie for their clients." After all, whether "the law is a noble and elevating profession" "depends upon the man." There is nothing in the nature of his profession which compels a lawyer to be a rascal. It has its temptations, but so has every other business.

Many hard things have been said of lawyers, but the account is nearly balanced by the complimentary things that they have said of themselves and of their profession. Sir Edward Coke speaks of "the gladness of light of jurisprudence," and a lack of self appreciation is not in general one of the defects of the disciples of the law. They have, however, the consolation of knowing that in spite of all the abuse to which they have been subjected by satirical writers and poets they are not only useful but essential members of society, and that those who abuse them most are generally the very first to rush to the lawyers to avenge or protect them in their hour of need.—Baltimore Sun.

Theta Orionis.

In the constellation of Orion there is a star known as Theta Orionis, which, when viewed through a powerful telescope, appears as a sextuple star, thus presenting the magnificent panorama of seven stars revolving about each other.
It is to be supposed that each of these stars is encircled by planets, and these again by moons.

A STREET CAR INCIDENT.

In Which a Chivalrous Little Man Makes a Big Mistake.

He was a little man, but his firm, quick step and erect head showed that he weighed 16 ounces to the pound and had all the confidence of a man weighing 200 pounds.

He stopped on the corner till a street car came along and stepped aboard.

The car was full, and several people were standing. He took hold of a strap and looked over the crowd and saw that several women were standing while a number of men were occupying comfortable seats.

It riled him to see it, and when his eye fell upon a pale faced little woman holding on to a strap, while a large, lazy looking man sat near by, he could not remain silent.

"See here," said he to the big man,
"here is a lady standing while you have a seat."

"Yes," said the big man.

"Well, don't you think you ought to give up your seat to this woman, who has probably been hard at work during the day?"

"No."

"You don't?"

"I do not."

"Well," said the little man as he braced himself, "I do, and I am going to yank you clean out of this car."

He grabbed the big man by the collar and proceeded to drag him off the seat.

"No," said the woman, who was interrupted by the woman, who grabbed him by the hair.

"Hold on!" cried the little man.

"That's what I'm doing," said the woman.

"But I mean let up on this. What do you mean by attacking me?"

"Look-a-here," said the female, "I didn't ask you to get me a seat. Besides I want you to know that man you have yanked is my husband."

The little man let go of the big man, and the woman let go her hold on the hair, and order was restored, but the little man was quiet until he reached the end of his route, when he left the car, when he was heard to mutter,
"And such is life!"—Peck's Sun.

EVOLUTION OF NIAGARA.

The Estimates as to the Age of the World Famous Cataract.

Professor J. W. Spencer says the first conjecture as to the age of Niagara falls was made by Andrew Ellicott in 1790.
Ellicott believed the falls to be 55,000 years old. About 1841 Lyle estimated the age of the falls as 35,000 years. All of these early estimates were purely conjecture, but they were correct in assuming that the gorge had been excavated by the river. Professor Spencer, in outlining the progress of the falls, says that a little stream draining the Erie basin once fell about 200 feet above the brow of the Niagara escarpment. This stream was not over one-fourth the volume of the recent cataract and consequently excavated the gorge at a much slower rate than at present.

During the early history of the river the waters of the three upper lakes emptied through the Huron basin by way of the Ottawa river. The height of the falls has increased several times.
The first episode, represented by a small river falling 200 feet, lasted about 11,- 000 years. Then the height of the falls was increased to 400 feet and took the drainage of the upper great lakes. At the same time there was a series of cascades, three in all, the lower gaining on the upper until finally they were all united in one great cataract much higher than that of today.

Subsequently the waters were raised at the head of Lake Ontario, and the falls approximated to the present conditions after a lapse of 17,000 years from the end of the first episode. The age of the present falls is put at 1,000 years, and another 1,000 years was probably occupied by transitional changes of a very gradual character. It is now 8,000 years since Lake Huron emptied into Lake Erie for the first time. The land has risen about the outlet of Lake Erie, and if the present rate of change continues in 5,000 or 6,000 years the waters of the four upper lakes will be turned into the Mississippi river drainage at Chicago.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Do Trees Require Sleep?

In the larger cities, where shade trees are few and scattering, electric lights seem to have no visible effect upon their foliage. In the towns and villages, however, many of which have their electric light systems, the effect is very noticeable, the leaves appearing as though they had been subjected to the blighting breath of a harmanian. The question was recently discussed at a meeting of the eastern arboriculturists, the conclusion being that trees need darkness in order that they may sleep, and that being continually kept awake and active they have been worn out and made prematurely old by the action of the light. That this is probably the correct solution of the mystery of the drooping leaves may be judged from the fact that similar trees in the neighborhood of those affected, though not exposed to the illumination, still retain their color and seem bright and strong.—St. Louis Republic.

Tolstoi and the Czar.

It is said that after the first incidental articles of Tolstoi the czar sent for him and advised him to desist.
"Will your majesty," Tolstoi is reported to have said, "do for an instant your imperial mantle and judge my works as a mere man? If a single word of my writings offend your majesty's human sense, I will cut off my right hand." Alexander III became very thoughtful, did not reply and affably dismissed the greatest living apostle of the social Christian idea.—New York Journal.

MAN EATERS OF THE PACIFIC.

Sharks That Are the Dread of the California Fishermen.

The true man eater shark as taken on the Pacific coast is known only as a man eater. The shovel nosed sharks are said to attack and devour a yellow dog.
The 34 foot shark captured by some fishermen of the true man eater variety (Carcharodon carcharias) seemed brave enough and savage enough to attack anything within its reach. This monster's mouth was wide, the teeth long and sharp, with an inward incline. The stomach would hold a full grown man easily and a good deal besides. The fish became entangled in a net off Point Lama.
Two boats attacked the vicious creature and finally succeeded in punching an iron into its vitals. The side of one boat was staved in by a blow forcible enough to knock one fisherman overboard.

These sharks have been known to attack a small boat, upset it and eat the occupants. A man eater over 42 feet long has been reported below San Diego.
The natives are said to live in fear of this awful fish, which already has the record of having eaten six men. It has been shot frequently. The water about it has been discolored with blood. Yet the shark still lives. The tiger shark is as ferocious as the man eater. Another large shark hereabouts is the basking shark. It is taken measuring 15 to 40 feet in length. The skin of one 32 feet long is at Stanford University museum.
This skin alone weighs over 1,500 pounds, while the shark's liver produced 180 gallons of oil. These sharks, however, are sluggish, lazy and do not bite people. Their gill rakers are on the whole model. When entangled in a net, they frequently suffocate, as the net restricts the gills.

California fishermen do not consider five foot sharks of much account when from San Diego wharves black sea bass are caught six to eight feet long weighing 300 to 500 pounds. Such fish are common. They are taken on shark hooks and clotheslines. When hooked, the fish is allowed to swim about the bay towing a two inch plank. When he is exhausted, the line is hauled in, and the fish killed with an ax.—New York Tribune.

THE HUMAN LEG.

Scientific Prediction That It Will Deteriorate Greatly In Future Generations.

Our Paris correspondent writes: A French caricaturist has been showing us what cyclists will come to in a few generations. The future "veloce man" is from the hips up like the definition of a line—length, without breadth. Below the belt he is swollen out with hard flesh and muscles, and the calves are monstrously big. Professor Yung of the Geneva university, on the other hand, believes that the time is coming when human beings will have no legs to speak of. What with cycling, the great end of civilization now seems to be to enable us to move about without using feet and legs. It is fast getting on to electrical hackney coaches and rudder balloons. The tendency is to throw all the muscular activity into the hands and arms. Professor Yung believes that the future human creature will have the merest survivals of nether limbs and arms of great length.

Teeth will probably be dwarfed also by the constant use of soft foods that need not be chewed, but as the march of intellect will increase in pace the brain will develop. Of course the standards of beauty with these anatomical changes will alter. When they do, a person with a set of teeth such as would now excite the admiration of a dentist would most seem a beast of prey.—London News.

Chinese Teahouses.

The restaurant, or teahouse, in China takes the place of the western clubroom.
All the current news and gossip are here circulated and discussed over their eating or gambling. One of their games of chance, which we have frequently noticed, seems to consist in throwing their fingers at one another and shouting at the top of their voices. It is really a matchmaking of numbers, for which the Chinamen make signs on their fingers up to the numeral ten.

The Chinese of all nations seem to live in order to eat, and from this race of epicures has developed a nation of excellent cooks. Our fare in China, outside the Gobi district, was far better than in Turkey or Persia, and for this reason we are better able to endure the increased hardships. A plate of sliced meat stewed with vegetables and served with a piquant sauce, sliced radishes and onions, with vinegar, two loaves of Chinese mo-mo, or steamed bread, and a pot of tea would usually cost us about 8½ cents apiece. Everything in China is sliced so that it can be eaten with the chopsticks. These we at length learned to manipulate with sufficient dexterity to pick up a dove's egg, the highest attainment in the chopstick art. The Chinese have rather a sour than a sweet tooth. Sugar is rarely used in anything, and never in tea. The steeped tea flowers, which the higher classes use, are really more tasty without it.—Century.

A Town With No Lawyers.

In the town of Oberweisenthal, in Saxony, disputes between the inhabitants are so rare that there is no room for a lawyer. A Leipzig merchant, who applied to the tribunal at Oberweisenthal for the address of a counsel, received the following reply, "We have the honor to inform you that there is no advocate here, but the barber, Fritz Biel, represents the interests of litigants in civil cases."

To tell mushrooms from toadstools, without eating and waiting for results, peel an onion and put it with the fungi while being cooked. If the onion remains white, eat with confidence; if it turns black, eat it not, if you value life.

Statistics prove that not less than 3,200 babies are born every day on United States soil.

INFLUENZA,

Or La Grippe, though occasionally epi-

The best remedy for this complaint is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.
"Last Spring, I was taken down with La Grippe. At times I was completely prostrated, and so difficult was my breathing that my breast seemed as if confined in an iron cage. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and no sooner had I begun taking it than relief followed. I could not believe that the effect would be so rapid and the cure so complete. It is truly a wonderful me-

A recent issue of the New England Magazine contained an excellent likeness of Rufus C. Flagg, D.D., president of Ripon College, Ripon, Wis., a former pastor of the local Congregational Church. The magazine article referred to celebrated men who had graduated from Middlebury College.

J. P. S. Mahoney, Esq., made his inaugural plea before a jury in Superior Court Tuesday, in defence of a client charged with the illegal sale of liquor, and although the case was practically hopeless, yet the counsel made a creditable defence, and was congratulated by District Attorney Moody at the close of the session.

At the meeting of the Y.P.M.L.S.S., Friday evening, the following were features of the programme: Life of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Miss Mabel Cheney; wit and humor, H. S. Stillings; selection from Rudyard Kipling, William McQuestion; poems from Dr. Holmes, Chester I. Carney. A social historical game closed the evening.

The School Board of East Cambridge have appointed Mr. William T. Carter, the former principal of our Merrimack Grammar School, to act as a substitute instructor in the Putnam Grammar School. Mr. Carter commenced his duties there this morning and will have the best wishes of our people for a successful and pleasant experience during the occupancy of the position.

The following committee will represent the Grange at the fair to be held in aid of the Lawrence Hospital Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday afternoon and evening next week: Mr. E. A. Fuller, John Barker, Mrs. Peter Holt, Jr., Mrs. G. L. Burnham, Miss Lettie Barker. The committee will be pleased to receive any contributions of fruit, vegetables, food, or money from our citizens or others interested in the work.

Dr. Pratt will conduct a special service for the children Sabbath morning at 10.30 o'clock in the Methodist Church. The attendance of all the young people in the parish is particularly requested, as the pastor has something interesting to say to the boys and girls. A harvest concert will be given by the Sunday School pupils in the evening at 8.30 o'clock, conducted by Supt. A. M. Markey. An enjoyable program will be presented.

The School Committee have appointed Miss Hannah F. McDonald, assistant teacher to Mr. W. F. Babcock of the Merrimack Grammar School. This is thought to mean practically that the school will be placed upon the same basis as formally, and that as under the jurisdiction of Principal Carter the acting principal will receive instructions to have oversight of the work throughout the building. Miss McDonald comes from the Storrow School, Lawrence, Monday.

Sad news reached the Methodist Parish Saturday, and many townspeople regretted to learn of the death of Rev. Bartis Judd, which occurred at his home in Framingham on the evening of that day. He was a Connecticut man, born in Bethel, and when 21 years old married Miss Rebecca Halleck of New Milford, Conn. Following the trade of a carpenter for a time, he afterward taught school but soon after entered the ministry. The principal years of ministerial life were given to the parishes of Hubbardston, Oxford, Newburyport, Philipston, Soxenville, Fitchburg, Marlboro, Somerville, Mendon, Cherry Valley, Townsend, Rockbottom, Oakdale, Westboro, North Andover. His last pastorate was in Heath. At the age of 50 years failing health necessitated his giving up active duties in the ministerial life, and he retired, much to the regret of his fellow workers and the people whom he had loved to serve. During his stay in this town and also in Newburyport Rev. Mr. Judd served on the School Board. He was 77 years old when death closed his honorable and useful service.

The interest in Good Templar work since the re-organization of the local society seems continuous and the present signs are indicative of a prosperous future. Rescue Lodge, as well as visitors representing Longfellow and Riverside Lodges of Haverhill, were entertained by the following well-prepared programme at the meeting Monday evening, Chief Templar Markey presiding over the exercises: Address, Mr. J. M. Moss, Haverhill; remarks, Chief Templar J. Carter, Haverhill; song by quartette, Mrs. Eugene Tufts, Miss Marion Paul, Messrs. Eugene Tufts, R. W. Walker; trio, Mr. and Mrs. Tufts, Miss Paul; address, Mr. James M. Craig; "stump" speech, John Hartley; remarks, Mr. Noyes, Haverhill; recitation, Mrs. Eugene Tufts; remarks, Charles Joy, Haverhill; reading, Mrs. Kimball, Haverhill; remarks and recitation, Mr. McFee, Haverhill; ocarina solo, Mr. Hartley; recitation, Miss Bertha Nelson; remarks, Messrs. Conroy, Wenthurst, Millard, Bryant, H. L. Foster; recitation, Mr. J. W. Richardson, Jr.; song, Mr. Tufts; closing address, Chief Templar Markey and Mrs. James Paul.

Activity Along Social Lines.

To awaken social life and interest among the people of the Congregational Church has for some time been the plan of the social committee. An effort to this end was attended with a measure of success and results which in many respects were gratifying and acceptable to its promoters. The people of the parish with their customary liberality saw that nothing was lacking to supply and garnish the tables for the feast, and the company did their duty thoroughly and without hesitancy in disposing of the over-abundant refreshment, about one hundred and seventy-five people partaking of the harvest supper.

Hon. N. P. Frye, chairman of the committee, conducted the after exercises, which occurred in the main vestry, and after a reading by Miss Annie L. Sargent, presented Rev. Mr. Barnes, the pastor, as the first speaker, who prefaced brief remarks with a statement made by Prof. Parks on an occasion to a class of students, "young men, if you would be intellectual you must eat." He dwelt particularly upon the social, business, home and religious life which should be united and that there should be no such thing as secular life. The social gathering of the evening had a religious end in view, and he looked for good religious results later. He welcomed the people and urged their attendance at the series of social gatherings.

The song, "We Meet Again To-Night," was given by a male quartette from the Andover Theological Seminary: Messrs. Carl Kelsey, first tenor; A. J. Lord, second tenor; Alexander Sloan; first bass; J. A. Goodrich, second bass. A finely executed piano solo, "Sonata Pathétique" was given by Miss Maude Bennett.

Rev. Mr. Barnes introduced as the next speaker Rev. Dr. Bolster of Dorchester, who, he said, was an active, transitive verb, which in a play with words he sought to conjugate in a way although perhaps not entirely new to the Dr., yet was novel to the audience. Dr. Bolster, accepting the unique introduction pleasantly, proceeded to congratulate the people that his time was short. He thought the people before him were the best looking people that he had seen for some time, except those of his own congregation. Several illustrative stories were told with good effect. He spoke of the pleasure it afforded him to think that we were inherently and essentially social; that the social nature such as we have here is to be continued hereafter. As we are inherently and essentially social we must continue to grow intellectually. We should also be essentially progressive. We should cultivate the social spirit. New Englanders were brought up not to express the emotional nature. Sunday should not be considered a gloomy day but should be looked upon as the pleasantest and most beautiful day of the week. He said he came to give the salutation rather than to make any elaborate address, and concluded by expressing his pleasure at being able to be present and put in a bid for an invitation at future assemblies of a like nature.

Misses Belle Roche and Helene Baldwin contributed a piano duet, Mozart's Sixth Symphony in B flat. The Glee Club rendered the selection, "The Wandering Song Patrol," which was encored. Rev. Mr. Pratt was introduced by the pastor with several good-natured lints, which he received and repaid with summary repartee. In the course of his brief remarks he said: "Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen: I have had great difficulty since I came to Massachusetts (?) to keep my boys from getting too many chestnuts. They are not here to-night, and I shall not hear that suggestive remark, 'Papa, what makes you.' I have noticed how plentiful that particular nut is in this region. They all grow on trees I believe, but I have learned to-night that they are sometimes found in barns (see Rev. Mr. J. E. much for Brother Barnes' remark about the Methodist and the collection box. (But seriously, my friends, I am in harmony with the theme your pastor presented and on which Dr. Bolster has so pleasantly spoken.) We do not as a rule place undue stress upon the social side of church life in New England. The church exists not simply to teach men how to pray but to develop every good element of human life. How much may be saved of sorrow, sin and despair by the better and larger cultivation of society and our social natures. I am in sympathy with such theology and it gives me pleasure to prophesy, should Dr. Barnes continue along the line his remarks to-night have indicated, and should he hold fast, in all his theological tenets, to sense as sound as that exhibited in his speech this evening, till he shall have come to the maturity of his natural faculties and powers to the full glory of ripeness, that he will be a useful man to his day and generation."

I am glad to be here. To be on Massachusetts soil is to feel the thrill of all your history. Here are principle—(see Plymouth Rock), patriotism—(see Bunker Hill), and piety (see your own and thousands of other sincere and holy members of the Christian Church, and whenever the history of these three great forces in human progress is written out there will be found the name Massachusetts. I love our grand state.

But Mr. President, this is the occasion of your annual harvest supper you have said, and a royal celebration it has been. You have given us some marked evidences that this is a harvest festival.

(1) Your sad faces and solemn mien have told me how you were thinking of feeling harvest frosts, snow, and the dreary barrenness of winter so soon to come. But cheer up my friends. The leaves struck by frost are more beautiful in their crimson and gold than in summer's green. And winter only prepares the way for spring. Cheer up.

(2) Your beans which are never better than outside of classic Boston, and your pumpkin pie, the best I have seen since this morning at breakfast, with your Indian pudding, combine to tell us that this is a harvest festival.

(3) But there is another evidence I have seen which is quite as striking. You not only have solemn faces and pumpkin pie, but I have noticed a gathering of vegetables and fruits into Barn(e)s; now I believe autumn is the time to gather into Barn(e)s, and I bear witness that this custom has been duly honored to-night. This is unmistakably a harvest festival.

I am grateful for your kindness to me, this has been a happy evening. Prosperity be with your gates. Good-night."

Hon. N. P. Frye in speaking for the committee said he felt exceedingly grateful for the attendance and for the quantities which had been consumed. Rev. E. S. Thomas who was invited to be present and take part in the exercises was detained by circumstances.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Dr. Bolster, the Seminary Glee Club, Rev. Mr. Pratt and the social committee for their respective services upon the occasion. The social committee in charge of the affair were: Hon. N. P. Frye, Miss Anna M. Tucker, Mrs. Wm. J. Halliday, Jr., Misses Edna Holt and Ella Currier, Mrs. N. P. Frye, Miss Mabel Morrill.
